the prodigal sets out in the full flush of his youth to spend his inheritance of his youth to spend his inheritance in seeking fame and adventure in the magnificent capital of Israel's kings. The second act is said to be dazzling in its profligate display of scenery, costumes and color. A typical court-yard in a palace of that period is shown. It is here that the prodigal plunges into the very vortex of voluptuous pleasures and fritters away his money, while hours dance and prince. money, while hours dance and prince-ly spendthrifts vie with one another in buring jewels for their fair ones m buying jeweis for their fair ones and gambling away their gold.

The climax comes when the prodigal is caught cheating with loaded dice in a futile effort to recoup his fortunes. Then quickly follows degradation and despair. Repentance is expressed by the prodigal as in a tremendous scene the wrath of God is visited upon the Bacchanali and revelers in fulfillment of a prophecy. ers in fulfillment of a prophecy.

The third act discloses the pathetic home-coming with its wonderful scene. of a mother's love and forgiveness.

Among the original cast which will he brought here are Frederick Lewis, Olga Newton, Henry Duggan, Florence Auer, Richard Thornton, Louise Orth, Mabel Montgomery, and Franceska Mabel Montgomery, and Franceska Karmenova of Petrograd Russia, heads a large ballet. A specially trained flock of sheep and several goats are interesting features in the first act. Seat sale Monday at 10 a.m.

AUDITORIUM. There is a well balanced bill at the All Raish and company. The bill a whole is much above the average seen in our city. The other acts in-clude Behind the Scenes, a girl act with nine people, pretty wardrobe, catchy tunes and dances. Cascer, the necordionist, is a clever musician and puts over a fine specialty. Yesterday he had everybody's feet going with his popular numbers. Today will be your last chance to see this great vaude-rille. Today four shows, 1.30, 3.15, 6.15 and $36. POETRY

THE LITTLE BOYS The little boys that long ago Came riding down the sun-splashed Came riding down the sun-splasned hill,
On country roads I used to know,
Where soft the summer winds still blow,
And mendow larks are singing still. The little boys went far away;
The warm wine of a nation's cheers
That sent them singing on their way
Is in their blond again today,
The nation's welcome in their ears

They left their horse and spurs and They left their boyhood's sweet romance, and khaki shirt And went away in khaki shirt To bear the wrack of blood and dir In combat on the fields of France. And safe was I and free from fear,

O little boys that used to be;
You guarded all held most dear
On land and sea, and in the air
You fought afar for mine and me.

O little boys of long ago.
Your homing ships are on the wing
And eagerly we greet them, though
Deep in our wistin hearts we know
It is not boys but then they bring
-M. Moran, in Sunset. WHEN HE COMES HOME. When we comes home our hearts shall sing the line ords in resurgent spring;
Each blossom on the wakening wold A new-horn glory will unfold as winds incense of roses swing.

The ibreatening clouds so prone to eling will speed away on vaporous wing:
The sun will yield a rarer gold when he comes home. The bells trinmphantly will ring:
Her fairest favors Peace will bring
To kiss and crown the warrior bold.
And by high carnival will hold;
Care will depart—grief lose its sting—
When he comes home.
